Raleigh Welcomes President

Anticipation and excitement could be seen in the faces of the crowd and felt in the air. The music blared as cloggers performed for the waiting crowd. Protesters chanted from across the street, and downtown Raleigh was packed with people. What brought all of this about? Why - President Reagan's appearance at the Civic Center of course! On October 26, to the roar of thousands, the President arrived in Raleigh. He spoke on behalf of North Carolina Republicans in a rally which filled the Civic Center and left hundreds more outside listening to this talk over speakers. After the rally President Reagan attended several private conferences including one in honor of singer Kate Smith who was presented with a Medal of Freedom. When the President finished his appearances, he slipped back to Air Force One and away from Raleigh, but those who were at the rally will never forget the day President Ronald Reagan came to town.

Meredith students Karen Dawson, Lucia Revels, Elaine Jolly, Michelle Cherry were on hand to welcome President Reagan.
Crowd anxiously waits as the President arrives.

Both the Morehead children and the Meredith students had a great time.

End of an Era

It was the end of an era. On February 28, 1983 the final episode of " $M * A * S * H$ " was aired. To those who had followed the show for its 11 years, it was a sad night indeed. There were many " $\mathrm{M} * \mathrm{~A} * \mathrm{~S} * \mathrm{H}$ " parties in Raleigh and across the nation as the faithful gathered together to watch the final episode dressed as their favorite " $\mathrm{M} * \mathrm{~A} * \mathrm{~S} * \mathrm{H}$ " character, while others remained at home to endure the agony alone. " $\mathrm{M}^{*} \mathrm{~A}$ * $\mathrm{S}^{} \mathrm{H}^{\prime}$ devotees glued themselves to the television to tearfully watch Hawkeye, B.J., Margaret, Colonel Potter, Klinger, Father Mulcahy, Winchester, and the rest of the 4077th say their goodbyes and leave the Korea that they had come to know so well. " $\mathrm{M}^{} \mathrm{~A} * \mathrm{~S} * \mathrm{H}$ " devotees feel that the show was a great deal more than a weekly situationcomedy; it was a family that they had come to know and love. Well, there will not be any more shows taped, but one can rest assured that the reruns will go on for years.
" $\mathrm{M}^{} \mathrm{~A}^{} \mathrm{~S}^{*} \mathrm{H}^{\prime}$ " fans Julia Whitley, Ann Fordham, and Nita Rogister experience a variety of emotions during the final episode.

Non-resident students spend much of their free time in Cate Center. Many times there is not enough time to go home between classes so non-residents stay in the fireside lounge or the snackbar to study, socialize, or watch television.

One person who is very special to the non-resident students is Lola, a worker in the snackbar. This year the non-residents gave her a surprise party to thank her for everything she has done for them.

Moving In

Moving into Meredith is always a hectic experience. Fans, popcorn makers, and stereos are all common sights as fathers, brothers, and boyfriends are luckily elected to carry belongings into the residence halls.

Hanging up the pictures of family and friends starts the task of livening up the room. Decorations include cross-stitch hangings, posters, and the latest $\mathbf{G Q}$ "cuties." For the more organized students, setting up the matching bedspreads and curtains takes the top priority. Each roommate discreetly evaluates the other one's wardrobe to see what can be borrowed during the next semester. And, of course the all important decision: what should be the center of the room - the TV', the stereo, or the refrigerator?

But, as mom and dad wave goodbye and feelings of missing home begin, moving day comes to an end, marking a new begitnning of another college year.

It's That Time Again

When a Meredith student is seen ripping out her hair and screaming or crying up a flood, it is a sure sign that she has gone through registration. The process is notorious as Meredith's traditional traumatic and tempering experience for students. It is a time when aggravation is well illustrated by Meredith Angels as erasers are run down from the constant changing and rearranging of schedules. Yet, this gruelsome process lives on as a prerequisite to preparing for a semester of schoolwork.

Laurie and Donna look on with disbelief as their stacks of books grow.
Students once again suffer the annual telephone trauma to receive one of the necessities of life.

Cornhuskin' - a Meredith tradition! Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors all know what it is like to participate in the excitement.

The entire Cornhuskin' week is filled to capacity with various activities including practices for each class every night. There is also the minor detail of schoolwork. All the week's activities are climaxed on Thursday night The night of Cornhuskin' 82 !

All week the freshmen have been saying, "What is all the excitement about?" There is no way to describe it unless you have experienced the thrill. The screaming " $83-85$ " or "' $84-86$ " rings through Jones Auditorium! The freshmen have the theme Speed Limit. The sophomores have the theme Flashback. The juniors "Make Waves" and to top it off the Senior Class tells everyone how sweet it is to "Bee" the Class of '83. After the night is over, the seniors have made their mark at Meredith and the freshmen realize just how special Cornhuskin' is to every Meredith student!

Even the Meredith faculty joined in the fun, as they grueled over who would be the victorious class.

Midnight Madness

The ghosts and goblins will get you if you don't watch out! Midnight Madness is held annually by the Cate Center Association. During this year's "Madness" ghost stories were told, games were played, and Meredith women appeared in all kinds of costumes.

Ghost stories told around a bonfire highlighted the Midnight Madness evening.

The chorus is a prime example of the hard work put into the Christmas Dinner.

The background entertainment of the Christmas Dinner soon became the main event.

Around five o'clock Wednesday, December 8 th, all the residence halls were bustling with activities as the women at Meredith prepared for the big feast. A tradition at Meredith, the Christmas Dinner promised to be a success once again. Excitedly, the women dressed up for the big occasion, then impatiently lined up with the rest of their hall to go to dinner. The drab cafeteria had been transformed into a fancy dining hall with rows upon rows of tables and chairs. The sweet aroma of ham, roast beef, beans, bread, cakes, and pies filled the entire area as the women filed in and sat with their halls at designated tables. The cafeteria was soon packed with hundreds of Meredith Angels, the place buzzing in eager anticipation. After a prayer, the tables, in turn, piled their plates with the delicious food. For certain, no one left the cafeteria hungry that evening!

Rush Week

Blue bears and yellow stars invaded Meredith's campus for the week of January 17-21. These decorations were only the beginning of the Phi and Astro campaign to interest prospective club members to the Rush meetings held in the Fireside Lounge and the Cate Auditouium. Each group told of the many advantages and experiences that could be had if becoming a part of one of these service clubs. At the end, of the week students who wished to become a part of the Phis or the Astros turned in their applications to each club.

The Fluff Doth Fall

Finally, a white blanket coated Meredith's campus on March 24, 1983. Athough the suow's appearance came three dass atter the lirst day of spring, it was a pleasant change for students since it was the first, and only snowfall of the vear. Meredith angels traded in their bikinis and sunbathing for mittens and snowball fights. Some delighted in making and eating snowcream; others rushed around to see if their classes had been cancelled for an excuse to ignore homework assignments. It was an unexpected but much enjoyed surprise.

This vear's snow came late in the season. but Meredith angels still took advantage of it.

The Sophomore Class of '85 stole the show with their winning skit, "Here's Listening to You.

Stunt 1983 proved to be an E-xtra T-errific experience in February. Myrtle Tur.... E.T. hosted the evening with the Ensemble and the Bathtub Ring entertaining during the judging. The Sophomore Class of ' 85 captured the judges' eyes with their winning skit, "Here's Listening To You." Stunt was sponsored by the Meredith Recreation Association.

Play Day '83

Meredith's courtyard was swarmed by Meredith students and faculty alike during Play Day 1983. As calories were put on by students who enjoyed the sundae fixings, calories were also burned by participants of the games set up in the courtyard. Jumpropers, volleyballers, and roller skaters surrounded the court as music was provided for entertainment.

"Jil, don't stop those drinks!"
This crowd was a bit wound up in important papers for an urgent reason.

Play Day usually causes some unusual events to occur such as sweeping grass or maybe that's more of those important papers.

Roommates, Carol Hawkins and Ann Fordham hang around for a fun time.

Fling '83

Colorful balloons and magicians added to the festivities of Meredith's 1983 Spring Fling. Delicious food was enjoyed as many students listened to music by the Waller Family and a country music band. Although the April 24th activities were held in the gym due to rain the event was a great success.

The Class to "Bee"

The Class to Bee, the Class of '83, celebrated with their little sister class on May 14 at McIver Ampitheatre. The occasion featured several events such as the Daisy Chain Processional, the reading of the class history, and the passing of the wishbones. The special event climaxed with the gathering of the Class of ' 83 and 85 on the island. Class Day is always a time of joy and the sharing of memories.

A Winning Season

The 1983 Meredith volleyball team has come out with a greatly improved season. The team's record was $20-10$, an improvement over last year's record of 11-12. "Each of the members worked more like a team," according to co-captain Joy Rose. "Because the squad knew each other much better, and each individual worked for the team and not for their own glory." It was also noted that even though the season started off slow, with a record of 5-7 at one time, the pace picked up throughout the season and the wins soon began to outweigh the losses.

This year's coach, Marie Chamblee, along with her teammates named Joy Rose the MVP of squad. This award reflects the most consistent playing throughout the season. Joy was part of the co-captain position along with Ginger Ratcliff. The both led the team with experience and skill.

Again this year the team got invited to the Regional Tournament in Midway, Kentucky a representatives of AIAW Division III. All the players were looking forward to the trip for the second year, but due to the lack of funds of other invited teams, the tournament was cancelled. Yet, again this year, the 1983 Meredith volleyball team played exceptionally well and ended the season pleased with their effort.

Dr. Chamblee discusses team strategy with Renee Godwin.

The talent in synchornize swimming is making it look easy

Excitement in Synchronized Swimming

Synchronized swimming, a club here at Meredith College, includes a lot more than just pointing toes and tossing arms gracefully. This year the organization concentrated more on synchronized swimming instead of just water ballet. This involves more team work and strength among each individual member.

In the past, the "Aqua Angels" have performed for events such as parents weekend, orientation, and miscellaneous affairs on Meredith's campus. Each spring our girls show their talents for the one big annual affair.

However, the Aqua Angels are ready for a change. Thevare ready to branch out and perform more than once or twice a year. Thev've decided to use their talents more constructively. Their scrapbook acts as a resume for recognition to the community. They performed for the Legislative Clerks at Misson Valley Inn around the pool as entertainment. They were interviewed and filmed by P.M.

Magazine this past October. In February, at the request of the News and Observer Publishing Co., they performed at a convention held at the Radisson.

All the monev earned from shows and other fund-raisers allowed the angels to buy new suits and equipment and helped to create a "new look." Coinciding with the girls "new look" was their new approach. The girls not only choreographed their own stunts to music, but used props to create a team personality that made an outstanding impression on the audience.

The only "swim team" at Meredith is the Aqua Angels. President Catherine Cole, head angel, stresses the need of more support and enthusiasm from sophomores and freshmen. Swimmers were strongly urged to try out for the team. After practicing for events, as well as fun, the girls seem to knit together as sisters - just as any team should at Meredith College.

The tennis team brought the fall season to a smashing halt with an overall $4-2$ record and placed third in the Eastern Collegiate tournament. Thanks to the coaching and support of Mrs. Jay Massey, the girls worked hard and improved a lot and learned to play as much for the team as for themselves.
Betsy Short was the #1 player this fall, with Rhett Ellerbe following in second position, Jean Stroud in third position, Theresa Duffy in fourth, Julie Hennis in Fifth, and Karen Perry and Patti Williams in sixth. Rhett Ellerbe also was the #2 flight winner and Theresa Duffy was #4. Betsy Short and Theresa Duffy teamed up and were runners-up in the #2 doubles matches. Having been the #1 player for the past three years, Manning Winslow did not play this fall due to a job as a student teacher, but returned to partake in the activities in the spring.

Relationships between the players were strengthened throughout the season, especially on road trips. Ah, those road trips! Everyone ate well and gained extra nourishment, which allowed them to watch Karen play her L-O-N-G split sets.

The season proved to be a good one for all the girls sportswise, and it also strengthened them friendship-wise.

This could be a touchy situation.

Rebuilding Year in Basketball

The 1982-83 basketball season was a rebuilding year for Meredith's team. Inexperience posed problems for the team early in the season. No seniors had returned from the previous year, and four freshmen held active roles. By February, however, the team had jelled into an outstanding ball club ending the season on a successful note winning the last three games decisively. Included in this string of victories was a 80-62 win over cross-town rival St. Mary's avenging an earlier 49-62 defeat at the hands of the Saints.

The team was led by junior co-captains Clare Lynn Brock and Jil Humberger. MVP Brock led the team in scoring - averaging 17 points a game, field goal percentage $46 \%$, and steals 58. Second year veteran Ginger Ratcliff led the team in rebounding, pulling down an average of 8.7 a game, and she also had 58 steals. Junior Laura Butler was the second-leading scorer with a 12.3 average of 8.7 a game and freshman Tish Bondurant followed close behind with an 11.9 average. Tish also shot $46 \%$ from the field. Freshman Dalinda Dunn was also commended for her outstanding play.

The season ended for the Angels with an overall record of 7-7. While not an overly impressive record, coaches Marie Chamblee and Ginger Barfield felt that the outlook for next year is very promising. The entire team returns with a year of experience behind them. Both coaches anticipate that the team will pick up where it left off in February and have a successful season in ' 84.

Golf With An Upward Swing

In Wilmington N.C., the 1981 Meredith golf team caught the second place trophy in the AIAW Division 111 National Golf Tournament on the weekend of June 16-19. The elated team members included All-Americans Cathy Everett, Kathy Reibsamen and Luann Johnson. LuAnn was first individually, Cathy Everett was fifth, Kathy Reibsamen was seventh and Edie Hancock placed right behind the rest of the team. The team finished the tournament with only ten strokes behind Wilmington with a team score of 1004. Junior Luann Johnson finished first in the tournament with the average score of 233. Following right behind Luann was Cathy Everett with a score of 253 and Kathy Reibsamen with a score of 264 .

In the fall of 1982, two freshmen, Kellie Milstead and Kim Murray, brought fresh talent to the team. Returning from the 1981 team was the experienced talents of junior Luann Johnson and sophomore Cathy Everett. As before in the past two vears, the team only consisted of four players instead of five. This means that every team member must be in top form for the team to fair out well in the tournaments.

Even though the team was young, with no seniors and two freshmen, the team showed steady improvement. The 1982 Most Valuable Plaver was AllAmerican Luann Johnson. As coach Ginger Barfield pointed out, "She held the number one position throughout the season." The most improved and consistent player was freshman Kim Murray.

The highlight of the team's season this year was the trip to Walt Disney World during Easter weekend. They participated in the Peggy Kirk-Bell Invitational, which provided a time for great fun and intense competition.

Clare Lynn and Myrtle look on with interest! Ha! Ha!

Though Coach Bross was uncertain about the 1983 team, she feels that they improved their skills from last season. Even though the record does not show a great number of wins, the record shows growth and improvement over last year.

Again this year, the 1983 Meredith softball team learned to lose gracefully with a record of 5-13. The team improved over last year's record of 3-16, according to Cindy Bross, the team's coach. This year's team, though still a young team, showed much improvement. This season was another year of growth and consistency.

The team's MVP was Carol Griffin who had the highest fielding average of .965 and the highest runs-batted-in of 12 runs. She was considered the most consistent player throughout the season. The team member with the highest batting average of .353 was Teresa McMaster. She played a strong role in this years improvement and growth of the team.

Friendship Through Sports

Sports at Meredith bring uch more to the participants her than exercise，perfecting ills，or a chance to compete． orts offer angels a chance to eet other angels and form onds that otherwise would not made．Participating in sports arries the angels on trips and to ook outs．They have lots of time ，spend with each other．
The angels of Meredith learn ore than the basics from each other．The best coaching comes from friends who really care－ and the coaches themselves be－ come more than coaches to these girls．It is not at every college that sports can be so much fun！

We're The Class To Bee: 1983

August, 1979-May, 1983: It seems impossible that four years could go by so quickly. Miraculously we survived eight semester of finals, uncountable fire drills, English papers, eight o'clock classes, late nights of cramming, Graduate school tests, too many pizzas, and outrageous telephone bills.

We shared an unforgettable Cornhuskin' night at Barry's, successfully launched Meredith's first Air Guitar contest, cheered our Little Sisters on to a victorious stunt, broke it our caps and gowns on Founders' Day, relived the past four years at Class Day, and said our goodbyes on May 15th.

But most importantly, we have made friendships and memories that will last a lifetime.

Loud music, WQDR D-Js, lots of wild looking costumes, fun, food, and dancing headed off the seniors' first fundraiser - an Air Guitar contest. The dining hall was changed from a quiet eating establishment to a rockin' concert stage. "The Spazz Band" received $$ 100$ in cash for first place, with second and third going to "Girls School" and a "Mass of Class." Among the frenzied crowd were punk rockers, rock-n-rollers, early sixty groupies, and airheads. Some faculty and administration were also decked out for the occasion; Mrs. Thorn got into the spirit of the event and won first place in the costume contest. It was a fun and exciting night for all!

BUZZ
"Good evening ladies and gentlemen and welcome to Meredith College Cornhuskin' 82. We are here amongst the members of the Senior Class anxiously awaiting the judges decision on the winner of tonight's events. While we're waiting, let's talk with some of these nervous seniors. Excuse me, Miss but what does Cornhuskin' mean to you?"
"Oh gosh, you just wouldn't believe it! There's class spirit, long hours of practice, loud music, good food, funny costumes, singing in the cafeteria, chanting through the halls, waterfights, a Little Sister candlelight service, and just really lots of fun."
"How about you, Miss? Could you tell us about your class's theme?"
"Sure! We're all a bunch of bees and we are hoping to buzz to victory with our theme "Be It Ever So Bumble." Our Queen Bee, Honey Bee, Buzzing Bee, Killer Bee, and Bumble Bee are Seniors bring home "the honey" with: planning a bee-union for the first place parade.

Class of $1983 . "$
"And now the winner of Cornhuskin' 1982 is ... the SENIORS!"
"Folks, this auditorium has turned into bedlam. Excuse me, Miss, have you got any final comment for our listeners?"
"This is the first Cornhuskin' we've ever won! I knew we could do it, and I'm really happy, but I'm also sad that this is our last

Senior Stunt '83

This year the class of 1983 performed and received second place for their skit Vica Versa. Their Little Sister class of ' 85 came in first place.

Members of the class assumed roles of people with various vices (chain-smoking, over-eating, compulsively lying) and went to a Rehabilitation Spa on the Fault 1slands to annihilate their vices. Some got rid of their vices, others were hopeless cases. But the irony of the skit was that the doctors picked up the vices they were working so hard to help their patients to get rid of. The underlying truth of the story was that everyone has vices that they will have to live with.

Meredith: A College of Character

Soft folds of black billowing in the breeze. Caps ready to fall off at a second's notice. Tassels gently tickling cheeks at every turn of the head.

On February 25th the Senior Class got their first chance to wear their caps and gowns as Meredith celebrated Founders' Day in remembrance and tribute to the college's originators. After faculty and students filed into Jones Auditorium, the Meredith Chorale be gan the program with "Awake The Trumpet's Lofty Sound." Tr butes were given to early and cor temporary founders and Dr. Wat ren Bryan Martin addressed th audience on A College of Charac ter. The program closed with th Alma Mater as seniors began t think about the next time the would don the shiny black gown which they now wore.

Graduating seniors share their thoughts with Founders' Day speaker, Dr. Warren Martin.

January 4-8, 1983 the Student Advisory Committee of the Business and Economics Department sponsored a trip to Atlanta, Georgia. Ten Meredith students, including five seniors, spent five days of sightseeing, shopping, and touring in the South's largest city. Participants enjoyed tours of Georgia Pacific, the Federal Reserve Bank, CocaCola Company, Rich's Department Store, and Emory University. Dr. Lois Frazier, business department chairman, accompanied the group.

Cornhuskin'

The Junior Class made waves at Cornhuskin' night 1982. With light blue cut-offsleeved sweatshirts filling Jones Auditorium, the juniors won first place in participation. Our parade spoke of May, 1984 when we will all leave Meredith and start making waves. Watch out for the waves from the class of 1984 ! We did not win this year, but wait till next year ... the waves will be bigger and better than ever!

The Class To Be

Ambition, unity, and leadership are goals of a successful year. Through our hardworking class officers we succeeded in many fund raising projects. Since this was our second year at Meredith, we had understanding for frustrated freshmen because several of us worked with them as Student Advisors. Enjoying the privilege of selfdetermining hours made us more aware of being upperclassmen. Remembering the times of our sophomore year will bring happy memories to each of us.

Flashback

Fever

Sophomores were ready for Cornhuskin'! Reminiscing memories was the theme in which we shared some the cherished times we have been through at Meredith. Our parade was narrated by Dorothy Disc, Grandma Camera, Minerva Monalta, and the scrapbook. Hog calling focused on the Porks Court - the Valley Day Wieners versus the Wonder Day Corporation. The Valley Day Wieners claimed the Wonder Day buns were not the appropriate size for their wieners! In the tall tale the Magic Cube told us about her upward and downward life when she got excited! The gale of her round-about life won us first place. So we ll always remember our sophomore year and ... Freeze-Frame!!

It's February! No snow yet; and sixty-five degrees outside? What's going on??? Big SisterLittle Sister fun that's what. With all the beautiful weather, there's plenty of time to "Horse Around," That's just what Beverly, Lauren, Suzanne, and Julia decided to do one sunny afternoon at the Meredith stables. Although the Big Sisters, Lauren and Suzanne, were a little skeptical of being around Torcea Lady and New Moon, everybody had a great time. Good times, serious times, and sad times are all a part of Big Sister-Little Sister relationships. It's hard to believe they will be gone next year. The Little Sister Class of 1985 will miss you a lot. Good luck Big Sisters of 1983. ## Leaders of the Class

Under the direction of Patti Vipperman, the freshman officers of the Class of 1986 are Lisa Clark - President, Allison Avscue - Vice President. Tammy Young - Treasurer, Julianne Bell - Secretary, and Susan Jones - Historian.

The officers started off the year with numerous fundraisers. Each officer had to plan a fundraiser and carry it out. The first one was selling of Hallo-ween-Grams - small decorated bags filled with candy. The officers planned two fundraisers for Christmas-pictures with Santa and Boutineers for the Christmas dance. Many raffles have also been held.

The officers have various responsibilities aside from their appointed duties. They worked together to plan Cornhuskin' and they planned Big SisterLittle Sister events as well as organized class meetings and class unity.
All the officers stated that they expected a lot of hard work when they ran and that's just what they got. But they also said they had fun and really enjoyed being involved.

The Big Event

We, the Freshman Class, have just had our first experience with Cornhuskin' here at Meredith College. Enthusiasm and excitement were high afterwards because of the intense sense of competition with the upper classmen. We all agree as Laura Bynum says, "It was fantastic!" Donna White gives a clue to the outcome of one of the events, "The water fights were challenging and unique," whereas Elizabeth McKee states, "It was exciting to see so much class spirit in the costumes worn by everyone." Other comments were given by Laura Watts, who replied, "It was great fun - I don't think the sophomores expected so much competition from us!" Lisa Robie gave her opinion, "It was terrific!! I enjoyed all the togetherness we shared with the juniors." For the first Cornhuskin' of the Freshman Class, we did a great job. Ann Douglas, the freshman ap-ple-bobber, and Christy Jordan, corn-shucker, received top places in the individual class competitions. Anita Campbell summarized, "The highlight of the week was the touching moment when our big sisters came through the halls singing to us!" We, the Freshman Class, have experienced tough competition and we're ready for next year's Cornhuskin! Watch out, Upper Classmen!

First Impressions

Dear Diary,
Well, I really thought I had my life together until I came to college. Throughout high school, I eagerly awaited college when I would be on my own at least I did until that fatal Thursday when my parents waved good-bye, leaving me at Meredith-alone! The activities during Orientation Week were blessings in disguise, as I became aquainted with many other freshmen who were feeling just as lonely as I. Soon, I realized we weren't such strangers after all. I soon had my first experience in making out my own class schedule, leaving it up to me to take my first responsibility to get upon my own and go to classes. At first, I thought I would die of starvation without Mom's delicious, home-cooked meals, but I soon met the Domino's pizza man. Even when my budget was low, I could always find plenty to satisfy my appetite in the school's cafeteria, which soon showed when my jeans started "shrinking!" One of my biggest dilemmas, though, arose when I went to wash my first load of clothes. Did the commercial say, "three temperatures, one detergent," or "one temperature, three detergents?" But you know what, Diary? Although my life seemed a total mess during the first few weeks of college. with the help of my friends, I soon settled in to realize that I would survive ... and I did!

The President

President Weems' busy days begin early as he goes about his daily routine of hard work and responsibility. He begins his day by reviewing and answering mail. Following appointments with prospective faculty members, President Weems has luncheon meetings with administrators, faculty members, or civic clubs. His afternoons are spent in committee work and strategic planning for Meredith. For a man as active as this, there is little time for his favorite hobbies, golf and sketching. His weekly schedule is evidence of his loyalty and dedication to keeping Meredith College at the forefront of higher education.

Coloring Our World

The Meredith art department encourages students to develop their imagination and creativity. The various studio courses and art history courses teach students to use the methods of the masters in order to create their own style. The professors work closely with the students, encouraging them to explore their talents in a variety of ways painting, drawing, sculpture, photography, and ceramics. Meredith's art department invites all students to explore their imagination and discover their creativity.

While some are enjoying the warm spring afternoons, many biology students can be found in the various labs. Whether counting fruit flies or dissecting cats, each student will admit it's well worth her time. Meredith's biology department provides a vast range of knowledge from the smallest microorganism to the largest sea creatures. In addition to finding out about the diversities of life forms, biology students are exposed to healthrelated issues concerning contemporary matters. With the help of the supportive and enthusiastic faculty, biology majors are prepared for exciting careers in research, lab technology, and medicine.

Women on the Path to Success

Do you dream of being an IBM executive or a Wall Street economist? Meredith's business department now puts these dreams within your reach. One of the fastest growing departments, it offers many challenging and rewarding courses that will prepare you for any career as a business woman. Whether you want to study accounting, economics, management, or shorthand, the business department has something for you!

Finding the Solution

Being one of the smallest departments on campus does not mean that the chemistry and physical science department should go unnoticed. Students enjoy the individual attention they receive through labs and lectures. The staff, always ready to help with problems, assists the students in many wavs. Such classes as inorganic and organic chemistry, physics, physical chemistry, analytical chemistry, and physical geography are offered to the students who are interested

Preparing Our Future Teachers

To go into education at Mere- Childhood, 2) Intermediate, 3) dith demands a versatile person. A student in education at Meredith must also choose a major from one of the other departments. A student becomes certified in one of four areas: 1) Early

Discovering Our World Through Words

An English major at Meredith has the opportunity to explore many different cultures through their literature. The department offers a variety of courses in British, American, and World Literatures. Students of English also study grammar through courses ranging from Old English to Advanced Grammar. A major in English is a difficult one; however, a student in English learns not only to express herself both orally and in writing, but she also learns much about herself as a creative individual.

Dr. Tavlor returns papers to her American Authors class.

Growing Through Other Cultures

The foreign language department at Meredith offers many different courses in French, Spanish, German, and Latin. In these courses students learn about other cultures as well as the fundamentals of speaking the language. In addition to obtaining a teaching certificate. many foreign language majors declare a second major such as business, political science, or sociology. No matter which language they study, however, Meredith students achieve a greater understanding of communication and cultures through the courses of this department.

Exploring the Past

The knowledge of one's past is an interesting and intriguing subject to almost everyone. The Department of History and Politics here at Meredith gives students a chance to learn about the past, not only of the United States, but of the entire world. The department offers broad subjects as The Emergence of Western Civilizations, to subjects more specific, like the history of North Carolina. The history and politics department helps a student enjoy learning about her past.

Maintaining Roles in Today's World

The Meredith Department of Home Economics offers updated courses to prepare today's woman for positions in the home economics field. Career opportunities in this area are more numerous today than in the past. A few careers that may be chosen by a home economics major include interior decorating, teaching, fashion merchandising, and clothing design. The variety of the courses offered by the department gives the students choices of well-rounded alternatives. A few courses students may choose now include marriage and family relations, cultural foods, fashion fundamentals, nutrition, and housing.

Calculating For The Future

The importance of mathematical knowledge is quite evident in the world today. Meredith math students are being prepared for careers through an extensive course of preparation. Math students spend many hours figuring out lengthy problems, but all agree that the skills they are mastering will be most helpful throughout the rest of their lives. Some courses offered to math students include finite mathematics, calculus, linear algebra, and statistics.

The Sound of Music

"Without music there is no life" - that is what the music students at Meredith say. Students learn the joy of performing regularly for others and for themselves. Music lessons, theory classes, music history, ensembles, and recitals allow students to explore their musical talents and to realize the importance of music in life. The department offers both a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Bachelor of Music degree, and students can major in either applied music or music education. With exceptional facilities and a fine faculty, the music department is certainly an asset to Meredith College.

Studying Religions Around the World

The study of religion is a must for the intellectual growth of any student. The Department of Religion and Philosophy at Meredith helps students to explore their beliefs and answer their questions. The departmental staff is always willing to help the students. Studies of the Bible, religious history, and world religions encourage the students? religious growth and understanding. Students interested in studying religion may choose from courses such as prophetic element, the writings, or introductions to the Old and New Testaments.

Understanding People

Working with people effectively is very important in today's world. Sociology students recognize the need for people helping people, and they strive to get involved. The department offers many courses to get students prepared for careers; some courses offered include social problems, social theory, the family, and human behavior in the social environment. After graduation sociology majors can go into social work, teaching, or on to graduate school.
